MEMORANDUM FOR MR. DULLES:

The Rockefeller Public Service Awards are intended to permit particularly well-qualified Federal employees, at no financial sacrifice to themselves, to attend an educational institution for a period of 6-9 months.

Harry Reynolds says that his only work in the past as the Agency point of contact for the Committee on Selection has been to check our security files on nominees. There have been no Agency employees who have applied or who have been nominated for an award. He and Shef Edwards feel that participation of Agency personnel is precluded by reason of security; consequently, the program is not promulgated within the Agency.
